

The Daily Courant.

Monday, March 5. 1746.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Feb. 28.

Paris, February 20.

M. the Duke Regent has written to the Bishops, that his Intention was that no Body should be troubled on Account of the Constitution, his Royal Highness having always designed to finish that Affair amicably with the Court of Rome. It is some time ago that the Marshal d'Huxelles and the Procureur-General came to desire some of the Non-accepting Bishops who were assembled at the Archbishop of Tours, to give in as soon as may be the Memorial of all their Difficulties upon the Bull, to be sent to the Cardinal de la Tremouille; the Prelates answered, they were very far advanced in it, and that they would give it in by the End of this Month.

The Doctors of the Sorbonne who were displeased at the late Conclusions, and by reason of their Act of Opposition to the said Conclusions were excluded from the Assemblies, have expressed their Anger in very injurious Terms against the Faculty of Theology and the Syndic, and have presented a Request to the Parliament for obtaining an Arrest of Prohibition. The Cause was pleaded last Monday, where M. Joly de Fleury Advocate-General, highly applauded the Faculty and the Syndic, strongly supported the Right they have to maintain Discipline, and correct those of their Members who deviate from the Respect due to the Body; and concluded, that he thought there was no reason for granting to the Complainers the Arrest of Prohibition demanded. The Court ordered that the Conclusion which excludes the Doctors Complainers from the Assemblies of the Sorbonne, shall be executed provisionally, and the Cause is to be fully pleaded on Saturday Seven-night.

From the Gazette a la Main

Paris, March 7. On Saturday last M. Joly de Fleury pleaded the Cause before the Parliament, between the Faculty of Theology and the 22 Opponents of the late Resolution of the Doctors of the Sorbonne, upon the Subject of the Constitution; and after a full hearing of both Sides, the Cause was referred to the Arbitration of the Abbot Pucelle.

On Monday the 1st Instant, the Doctors of the Sorbonne being assembled, put into deliberation the Question concerning the Bishops who had forbid the Students in their Dioceses to study in the College of Sorbonne, and it was resolved that their Names should be razed out of the Catalogue of the Society.

Edinburgh, Feb. 23. The Royal Ann Galley, Pearl, Port-Mahon, Deal-Castle and Phoenix, are returned from Cruising. It appears by the Journal of Captain Stuart, that he had early Intelligence of the Pretender's having put to Sea from Montrose in a clean-tallow'd French Snaw, which rowed out of the Harbour, and close in along Shore a good Way, with her Sails furled. The Port-Mahon lay all that Night within two Leagues of the Harbour's Mouth, but 'twas so very dark there was no seeing a Ship a quarter of a Mile distant. Captain Stuart and the Pearl were then off Aberdeen; and when the Rebels marched out of that Town, having Notice of their halting Northward, and that Lord Tinmouth with 150 French Officers were contriving to make their Escape from Peterhead or Frazerburgh, he immediately dispatched away the Pearl and Phoenix, with Orders to lye off those Places, which effectually disappointed them. He lay himself off Aberdeen till the Duke of Argyll's Arrival there: The Wind afterwards blowing hard Southerly, he disposed the Ships chiefly on the South-Coast of Murray-Frith; sent by the Deal-Castle, a Letter to the Earl of Sutherland, to apprize him of the Flight of the Rebels, and to prepare him to receive them in case they should make a Push at Inverness; and traced Lord Tinmouth and his Associates as far as Port-Say, where seeing a Ship of War lying to intercept them, they despaired of Success on the Coast, and therefore they joyned the Clans on the 10th Instant, and took to the Mountains. All the Ships kept the Sea diligently, when Wind and Weather would permit, and observed the Motions of His Majesty's Army so carefully, that the Duke of Argyll did not pass through any Port-Town, without finding some Ship ready to put in Execution any Service his Grace might have had to propose. On the 21st Sir John Jennings received Advice from the Lord Lovat, that a Vessel with the Pretender's Plate and other Effects on Board, and a considerable Sum of Money for his Use, had lately put into the Lewis, and that many of the Chiefs of the Rebels were making off to the Skie and the other Northwest Islands: Whereupon he immediately ordered the Drake-Sloop thither, with Instructions to cruise about the Orkneys if the Winds should then be contrary; and by Express directed Captain Stuart of the Alborough to dispatch the Happy Sloop thither, and to cruise himself with the Lively, for fourteen Days, about the Isles of Hay, Mull, and Canney, to endeavour to intercept the Rebels, or any Vessels employed for their Relief.

London, March 5.

Although the Letters from France of the 4th of March, N. S. said the Pretender arrived but two Nights at St. Germain, and then set forward for Avignon; there is Advice by the last Letters, that he remains still at St. Germain.

London, March 5.

Thursday last being the Birth-Day of her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales, there was a very numerous and splendid Appearance at Court of the Nobility and other Persons of Distinction; and at Night there was a Ball.

The same Day the Stewards of the Society of Ancient Britons, established in Honour to her Royal Highness's Birth-Day, and the Principality of Wales, met at St. Paul's Church Covent-Garden, where the Service of the Church of England in the Ancient British Language was read, by the Reverend Mr. Lewys; and likewise a Sermon preached by the Reverend Mr. Philipps, Chaplain to the Society: And after Divine Service was over, they proceeded to St. James's, to pay their Compliments to their Royal Highnesses, and from thence to Haberdasher's Hall, where a splendid Entertainment was prepared. And being seated, an Ode made in Honour of the Day by Mr. Hughes, and set to Musick by Dr. Pepush, was performed; and after Dinner, chose the following Gentlemen Stewards for the ensuing Year, viz. 1. The Right Honourable Lord Longueville. 2. Sir Robert Cotton, Bar. 3. Sir John Austen, Bar. 4. The Honourable General Davenport. 5. The Honourable Mr. Molineux, Member of Parliament, and Secretary to his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, President of the Society. 6. Thomas Wynn, Esq; Member of Parliament, and Equerry to his Royal Highness. 7. Sir Humphrey Ho-

warth,

warth, Kt. 8. John Roberts, Esq; Member of Parliament. 9. Charles Greenwood, Esq; one of the Commissioners of the Wine-Licence-Office. 10. Edward Hughes, Esq; Judge-Advocate.

The famous Plaster for the Stomach, which infinitely cures all sorts of Agues, &c. &c. &c. without any other Physick, now esteemed and recommended by the most knowing Physicians, as the best and most infallible remedy for curing Agues that ever was found out; in many Thousand experiments it has not only failed, most of the Agues that were cur'd last Year were cur'd by it. It is now sold only at Mr. Nutt's Book-Shop, at the Great Key and Bible in Cornhill, near Black-Market, at 2 s. the Glass, with Directions. At the same Place is also sold the most excellent Plaster for Corns, being the only infallible one in the World for giving present Ease, and taking them quite away. Price 1 s. with Directions.

A Specifick Tincture for the Tooth-Ach, and all Disorders and Defects of the Teeth and Gums, whatsoever, and all of which gives instant Ease in the most tormenting Pain, and not only takes it away in a Moment, but absolutely cures the Tooth-Ach, so as to prevent its return. It assuredly preserves the Teeth from growing Loose, and shows that there is a true decay of the becoming work; makes the tooth Teeth as white as Ivory, and keeps them firm, so that they are loose, and cures the Scurvy in the Gums, causing them to grow up to the Teeth, and to admission. It is neither disagreeable to the Smell or Taste, but really preserves the Teeth and Gums from all manner of Rottenness, Corruption, and other Foulness, and may be depended upon to preserve the Cheek and Gums from all manner of Rottenness, and in every respect. To be had at the Hatch with Blue Spikes in Haydon-Yard in the Minors, at 2 s. 6 d. a Bottle, with Directions.

The Volatile Cleaner and Strengthenr of the Reins, an Elixir, which brings away vitally by the Urine all the Ricks of Secret Injuries, lowering the Reins of all Rottenness, White Shine, or Matter that obstructs the free Passage of the Urine, causes sharpness of it, or too frequent Occasions to make it; Strangury, Ulcers, &c. tho' of the longest Date, known by Pains and Weakness of the Back, Thread-Skins, Flims, or Hair flying about, or the settling at the bottom of the Urine, its strong Smell, &c. than which nothing is more common after ill Cures. It not only cleanses, but also, after a particular manner, most powerfully strengthens the Reins, recovers their lost Tone, and brings all those Parts and Passages to their right Order, in both Sexes. Price half a Guinea a Bottle, with Directions sent up, which is generally enough to cure any one Person. To be had at Mr. Lockton's Tryshop at the Griffin the Corner Shop in Bucklebury in the Poultry. N.B. This is the same Game that has been published and sold for above half a Year, with such extraordinary Success and Satisfaction, which sufficiently takes off any Suspicion that it is a Counterfeit; therefore I shall say no more in its Vindication.
